The Paris correspondent of the Pall Mall Gazette says that M. Emile de Girardin is disposing of the Liberté, and that M. Lesseps and the Duke d'Albufera are to be the purchasers, and that one of the conditions of the sale is that the present editor is to be a Senator.

A trial, which it is said will be one of the most gigantic on record, was about to take place in Hungary. The accused are brigands, 300 in number, and it is expected that 200 of them will be condemned to death.

A queer story is told by one of the Greek papers. One of the military commanders having offered a reward for each brigand's head brought in, the supply soon became so extensive that suspicions were aroused. Inquiry was set on foot, and disclosed the fact, that with an eye to the main chance, the so-called brigand-hunters made raids in the neighboring villages, plundered them, and then turned the heads of their victims to account.

In the case of the Queen against Hurt, (the men in women's clothes case), the Judge had fixed the amount of bail at £1,500 for the defendant himself, and two surities in like amount, with forty-eight hours' notice to the prosecution. In the case of Fiske, it was arranged that four surities in £500 should be required with forty-eight hours' notice. Le Nord says that Mr. Cumming, against whom a warrant has been issued in connection with the charge of personating women, went to Brussels immediately after the arrest of Park and Boulton, and put up at one of the best hotels. As, however, he had no papers, and could not give evidence as to his means of existence, he was required to leave The Nord adds, that when he thecountry. was called upon he had his hair in curlpapers, and that portraits in which heard his friend were represented in women's clothes, were found in his room.
