

111
111014
11112

Merced, CA
(Merced Co.)
Sun-Star
(Cir. 6xW. 20,054)

Transsexual operations

AUG 16 1979

Allen's P. C. B Est. 1888

Sex change surgeries maintained

STANFORD (AP) — Sex-change surgery is expected to continue at Stanford University Medical Center despite a decision by Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore to abandon such operations.

Stanford psychiatrist Dr. Norman Fisk, a director of Stanford's Gender Dysphoria Clinic, said "gender reassignment" surgery was the "preferred treatment" in "carefully selected cases."

Fisk said this week that Stanford has a minimum waiting period of two years for each sex-change operation performed at the center, adding that for every 10 persons who seek a sex change, one is permitted to undergo surgery.

Since the program's birth 11 years ago, some 220 persons — mostly men wanting to become women — have had sex-change surgery.

The consensus of patients who have undergone sex-change surgery at Stanford, Fisk said, was "that none had been harmed, not a single one expressed regret, and most described a high improvement in their sexual functioning..."

Eureka, CA
(Humboldt Co.)
Times-Standard
(Cir. D. 22,571)
(Cir. S. 23,057)

Transsexual surgery

AUG 16 1979

Allen's P. C. B Est. 1888

Hospital to continue sex-change operations

STANFORD (AP)—Sex-change surgery is expected to continue at Stanford University Medical Center despite a decision by Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore to abandon such operations.

Stanford psychiatrist Dr. Norman Fisk, a director of Stanford's Gender Dysphoria Clinic, said "gender reassignment" surgery was the "preferred treatment" in "carefully selected cases."

Fisk said this week that Stanford has a minimum waiting period of two years for each sex-change operation performed at the center, adding that for every 10 persons who seek a sex change, one is permitted to undergo surgery.

Since the program's birth 11 years ago, some 220 persons — mostly men wanting to become women — have had sex-change surgery.

Oroville, Ca
Mercury Register

*transsexual
surgery*

AUG 16 1979

Allen's P. C. B Est. 1888

Sex Change Surgery To Continue

STANFORD (AP) — Sex-change surgery is expected to continue at Stanford University Medical Center despite a decision by Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore to abandon such operations.

Stanford psychiatrist Dr. Norman Fisk, a director of Stanford's Gender Dysphoria Clinic, said "gender reassignment" surgery was the "preferred treatment" in "carefully selected cases."

Fisk said this week that Stanford has a minimum waiting period of two years for each sex-change operation performed at the center, adding that for every 10 persons who seek a sex change, one is permitted to undergo surgery.